

Maintaining CMRP Certification during COVID

COVID-19 disrupted so much of our lives that many of us considered not staying CMRP certified. Conferences were either canceled or made virtual only which doesn't work for everyone. I found myself needing many CEUs in 2022 and I thought about letting my certification run out. I'm glad I didn't.

It turns out that the education offered by the AHRMM Learning Center and Knowledge Center is really very good and easy to do. There is a strong variety of education offerings to choose from, each of which enhanced my growth. The video choices range from Value Analysis to Capital Planning to how to prepare a presentation. The quality of the classes is excellent, and it will refresh those principals that makes us strong healthcare professionals.

If you have been thinking about a CMRP Certification, but haven't followed through with it I urge you to go through the process. Your understanding of Supply Chain in a HealthCare setting will surely benefit. If you think that keeping your CMRP is too difficult after we lost access to conferences the last couple of years, try the AHRMM Knowledge Center. You will find a lot of great content to continue your education.
