August 16th: SFLHIMSS/FLAHRMM Joint Evening Panel: Clinically Integrated Supply Chain at North Broward Hospital, 6-9pm

September 14th: FL AHRMM Fall Conference at BayCare

Hello Florida AHRMM Members,

The 2023 FL AHRMM Spring Conference at Jackson Health System last month was another great day of education and networking. This event included excellent panel discussions on Supply Chain and IT alignment and Cyber Security.

It is interesting to pause and reflect on how the interaction between Supply Chain and IT has evolved over the years. I recall the days when our departments would meet in preparation of fiscal year to discuss projects, resources, and priorities. How times have changed with the continuous communication and collaboration to optimize business processes and supply chain performance.

Our healthcare system has an excellent IT, ERP and Business Systems team and Supply Chain works closely together on numerous initiatives across operations, logistics and the procure-to-pay process. In Supply Chain Operations, we collaborated to implement mobile inventory packing slip scanning, employee ID badge scanning, email proof of delivery, and dashboards.

Our Supply Chain team has implemented data management tools and automated transactions to name a few. Another new initiative is exploring the use of robotic process automation in Supply Chain. This is in the planning and development stages of deploying bots to process routine invoices and/or answer commonly asked questions or inquiries.

Supply Chain resilience, visibility and evolving technologies will require our Supply Chains and IT departments work together to support our patients and clinicians.
